Dear SMJ Consulting Hiring Team,

I am writing to express my interest in the Customer Service Representative position for your client, an international logistics company specializing in ocean, air, and ground freight. My academic background in International Relations, with a focus on international trade and logistics, combined with my current experience in bilingual customer support, feels like a natural match for what this role requires.

In my current role as Global Expert at Boost Mobile, I resolve complex cases for English-speaking customers, coordinating across multiple internal teams to deliver timely, accurate resolutions — a dynamic very similar to shipment coordination: direct communication with multiple parties, close follow-up, and problem-solving under pressure. While I don't yet have a full year of formal experience specifically in maritime or import customer service, my time as a research assistant at the Center for Research on Latin America and the Caribbean (CIALC-UNAM) gave me a strong foundation in rigorous analysis and attention to detail — skills I see as directly valuable for tracking shipments, documentation, and reporting accurately.

I'm especially drawn to the relationship-building side of the role — I genuinely enjoy direct client contact and solving their needs, which is something I already practice daily.

I'd welcome the opportunity to speak further, including learning more about the client company and the team I'd be working with. Thank you for your time and consideration.

Best regards,

Diego Ruiz Elizondo
